

FT Ranking 2016: EDHEC Master in Management in the top 15 Worldwide

- EDHEC Master In Management moves up 3 positions from 2015
- EDHEC Master in Management ranks 4th in France

Press release

Paris, 12 September 2016 – EDHEC Business School Master in Management programme stood out in the 2016 FT Ranking by climbing up from 18th to 15th place , despite an ever-more competitive environment (90 institutions entered the ranking in 2016 vs 80 in 2015). The ranking demonstrates EDHEC’s business model strengths in reaching top positions in all the criteria assessed.

Once again the Financial Times ranks EDHEC Business School among the top 4 French business schools for its Master in Management programme, alongside HEC, ESSEC and ESCP.

“This ranking further ascertains the international recognition earned by EDHEC and the school’s model. The Financial Times not only positions EDHEC among the top 15 Master in Management programme worldwide but also ranks our MSc in Financial Markets as 4th worldwide. These results confirm EDHEC’s position among the world’s elite business schools”, explains Olivier Oger, Dean of EDHEC Business School.

“These results come as a reward for all our achievements. Our pedagogical innovations, our dedicated career centre - particularly through our Talent Identification & Career Development (TI&CD) programme- and our extensive initiatives over international outlook are acknowledged through this ranking”, adds Emmanuel Métais, Associate Dean for Graduate Studies & Professor of Strategy at EDHEC Business School.
