

INFORMATION PREPARED IN COMPLIANCE WITH REGULATION 28 OF THE SINGAPORE PRIVATE EDUCATION REGULATIONS 2009

Under the Singapore Private Education Act, Private Education Institutions (PEIs) offering education leading to the award of a degree are required to register with the Council for Private Education (CPE). Under Regulation 28 of the Private Education Regulations 2009, all PEIs are required to ensure that the information below is made available to “students, intending students and prospective students.”

a) Registration number

For purpose of registration with the CPE, EDHEC Business School, has registered EDHEC Risk Institute Asia Limited as a limited by guarantee company. The entity’s registration number with the Accounting and Corporate Regulatory Authority of Singapore is 201025256Z. EDHEC Risk Institute Asia is registered with the Singapore Council for Private Education, registration No. 201025256Z, valid from 22-06-2011 to 21-06-2017.

b) the name of the private education institution and the names of all of its schools and departments or faculties thereof, where applicable;

The name of the PEI is EDHEC Risk Institute Asia. The PEI was established and is controlled by EDHEC Business School.

c) the addresses of all registered premises of the private education institution;

One George Street, #07-02, Singapore 049145

d) accurate visual representations of the registered premises of the private education institution, including one or more photographs or video recordings of the registered premises;

- e) the number of classrooms in the registered premises of the private education institution, and the floor area and capacity of each classroom;

Classroom	Floor Area	Capacity
Executive Classroom	62 sqm	37 students

- f) the facilities and equipment the private education institution provides;

Executive Classroom: The executive classrooms used for the degree programmes in London, Nice, and Singapore allow real-time multimedia communication over the Internet and on-demand broadcasting of class sessions. Programme participants can thus participate remotely in research workshops and electives, replay courses and seminars attended physically, and access the multimedia recordings of past courses, seminars, workshops, and presentations.

E-Learning Platform: The School's e-learning platform allows participants to view programme information and announcements, access course material and audio-video recordings of class sessions synchronised with supporting slides, communicate with faculty and peers, and set up workgroups.

Electronic Library: The School's electronic library offers on- and off-campus full-text access to scientific journals, business periodicals, and a growing collection of e-books. For journals and periodicals, the School subscribes to EBSCO's EconLit and Business Source Complete, JSTOR, Emerald, Science Direct and DowJones Factiva among others. Degree course students enjoy access to over twenty-five major research databases in the fields of finance and economics, and to ready-to-use research tools via the School's subscription to Wharton Research Data Services.

Reserve Library: The London and Singapore campuses include a physical reserve library where reference material is kept for onsite consultation.

PhD in Finance programme

(m-i) Delivery: all core courses and elective research seminars offered in Asia are delivered via face-to-face lectures held at our Singapore campus; PhD in Finance candidates can also physically attend or electronically audit research seminars offered at other campuses.

(m-ii) Admission requirements: Admission to the EDHEC PhD in Finance programme is highly selective. Normal entrance requirements include: a master's degree (or equivalent) from an accredited school, college, or university (business management, economics, science, and engineering degrees are preferred); academic excellence; superior scholastic potential (certified by GMAT or GRE scores); and English proficiency. Excellent candidates who do not have a master's degree will also be considered.

(m-iii) Graduation requirements: To graduate, PhD in Finance candidates must: (i) take and pass all core courses (i.e. achieve a minimum grade of B- in each and every course); (ii) achieve a B cumulative average in core courses; (iii) pass all comprehensive examinations; (iv) physically attend a minimum of five elective research seminars; (v) contribute two presentations to the research presentation series; (vi) earn approval to stage a dissertation defence based on the finalised dissertation and successfully defend the dissertation orally.

(m-iv) Assessment: assessment of core courses is via homework and take-home examinations, comprehensive examinations are seated examinations; research presentations are assessed on the basis of the oral presentations and of the supporting research documents; to determine whether a dissertation defence can be staged, the finalised dissertation is assessed by the dissertation adviser(s) and academic director of the programme and, if deemed of sufficient quality, forwarded to the external adviser whose consent is required; the degree is awarded upon successful (oral) defence of the dissertation provided all other requirements have been met.

(m-v) Course duration and full-time/part-time basis: the course's duration is three years and according to the CPE definition of a full-time course ("A full-time course is defined as a course conducted over five days a week, at least three hours a day, 50 hours and one month."), this is a part-time course.

(m-vi) Commencement and end dates: in Asia, the course was offered yearly with a February commencement; the normal end-date for a participant matriculated in February N is January N+3.

(m-vii) Industrial attachment: none required or provided.

(n) Average teacher-student ratio: the ratio varies between 1:5 and 1:15 in the classroom.

(o) Fees: SGD63,000 per annum for participants who started in 2014. Fees do not include travel and accommodation expenses.
